DAY 2

Sleeping bag caused some severe bedhead? Don't worry.

Hair is easier to wear up a day after washing anyway, so it's the best option among the festival chaos.

But you'll need to remember to pack a decent hairbrush, compact mirror and assortments of hair clips, headbands and ponytail elastic.

Colourful headbands are a great way of disguising the fact you're having a bad hair day along with backcombing and teasing the hair.

Also try tying it into a side ponytail, twisting the hair and tying it back. It should look as if you have made no effort at all.

DAY 3

The dry shampoo is going to come in even more handy this morning as your hair will most likely be looking and feeling greasy.

A shower would be the preferred option but as we don't have that luxury, we must make do with the next best thing.

Dry shampoo is the must-have of the moment. It absorbs any oiliness and gives the hair an instant boost and adds volume, making it your festival hair's best friend.

Osmo Day Two Styler is the ultimate dry shampoo on the market. It doubles up as a styling product and gives extra hold at the same time.

A ponytail and quiff combo are on the menu today.

This will keep your hair out of your face and hide the fact it is in need of a wash.

Go for a high ponytail with a messy feel.
